BONNIBERT THE WINNER. PLEISCHMANNS SCORE WITH THE SON OF ALBERT AT SARATOGA.

Peaceful Wins the Handicap on the Flat and Klondyke Proves to Be Easily the Best Over Hurdles-O'Connor Lands Hesper and Cherished in Succession-To-day's Entries.

SARATOGA, Aug. 10.—The feature of the card t the track this afternoon was the Pepper Stakes for two-year-olds with a guaranteed value of $5,000. The race was at five and a half furlongs and ten of the best two-year-olds in training were named, but only seven ran. The Pepper Stable scratched King Pepper and added Princess Pepper, the Fleischmanns scratched Irritable and trusted to the winner of the Fleischmann Stakes, Bonnibert, while J. F. Schorr sent Alard Scheck, the winner of the Congress Hall and the first part of the Grand Union, to sport his colors. R. T. Wilson had two in the race, Tuscarosa and The Parader, and for some reason they were made odds-on favorites. To make matters worse the stable declared to win with Tuscarosa who was beaten over a furlong in his last start. He and Alard Scheck were the leaders when the flag went down, but Princess Pepper shot by them and with a clear lead she made the running until well into the stretch. Then Bonnibert and Alard Scheck moved to the front and while they were fighting it out The Parader. who had been last away, joined them. But Bonnibert always had the foot of them and he remained in front to the finish.

Fourteen horses that had not won a race since July 1 were named to go in the first race. but the presence of Hesper cut the field down to eight starters. The 50 to 1 chance Tartar ed to the last furlong where Hesper shot to the front and won by a length and a half. The victory was a costly one for Assemblyman T. D. Sullivan or Tom Sharkey, which ever one s his owner, for Hesper was bid up. He was entered to be sold for $500 and the trainer of he Hawthorne Stable. owners of Tartar, bld him up to $2,000. The colt was saved with another $5 bid. O'Connor rode his second winner on Cherished in the second race. She was the favorite for the race and after Luck had made the running to the stretch went to the front and won by a length and a half from the front and won by a length and a half from Guess Work.

The fourth race found First Whip the favorite with King Bramble and MacLeod of Dare well played. But after the 30 to 1 chance had led to the far turn Peaceful, at 8 to 1, took the lead and won by a nose from Anthracite. Einer was backed from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5 to win the hurdle race, but the strong second choice Klondyke went to the front on the backstretch and beat him out easily by three lengths.

The crack three-year-old Klimarnock, who injured himself after a sensational trial here, in preparation for the Brighton Cup, is now on the crippled list and there are fears that he may never sport Mr. Whitney's colors again. The trouble is due to a parted hoof and his trainer, John Madden, says that it is sure to prevent him from starting this year, if he ever does again. Summary: FIRST RACE

Second Round and Semi-Finals in the Open Tournament at Otsego.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, Aug. 10.—The to-day in the third annual open tournament of the Otsego Golf Club consisted of the second round and the semi-finals for the Otseg ando cup a mixed foursome competition for the Cooperstown cups. From sixteen to twenty couples took part in the mixed foursomes, the first eight to qualify. As many of the men who formed the pairs competing for the Cooperstown cups were also playing for the Otsego cup, there was more or less delay in getting both events divided. The most important event of the morning round was the match between Deversux Emmett of Garden City and A. Holmes, Tuxedo. To the surprise of the large "gallery" following the contest the Tuxedo schoolboy held his own in a most stubborn mannerduring the greater portion of the match. They were all even at the eleventh hole and again at the thirteenth. In fact, the game was in doubt until the last four holes, when Emmett made a spurt and won each hole by a single stroke. The scores follow:

Deveraux Emmett-Out 6 In 6 The other match between A. D. Compton of Westchester Golf Club and W. Scott O'Connor of Harbor Hill, resulted in an easy victory for the former. The cards:

The defeat of W. Festus Morgan by Steven C. Clark was a decided surprise. They were all even at the seventeenth hole, but in playing the eighteenth Mr. Morgan half topped his drive and went into the creek. A heavy thunderstorm had just burst upon the players, and as Clark got within a mashieshot of the green on his drive Morgan gave up the hole. G. Hyde Clark ewon handly from A. Coppell. In the afternoon the gallery selected the Emmett-Compton match as the leading tent and pinned their faithon Emmett. The match was interesting throughout, but to the surprise of the golf enthusiasts Emmett was beaten by 3 up and 2 to play. The cards were:

the summary of the day's play:
Otsego Cup—Second round—G. Hyde Clark, Otsego, beat A. Coppell, Otsego, by 3 up and 1 to play;
Stephen Clark, Otsego, beat W. Festus Morgan, Otsego, by 1 up; Devereaux Emmett, Garden City, beat Holmes, Tuxedo, by 3 up and 1 to play; A. D. Compton, Westchester Golf, beat W. Scott O'Connor, Harbor Hill, by 7 up and 5 to play

Semi-Finals—Stephen C Clark beat G. Hyde Clark, by 1 up in 19 holes; A. D. Compton beat Deveraux Emmett, by 3 up and 2 to play. The qualifying round of the mixed foursomes resulted as follows:

A. D. Compton and Miss Browning, 51; W. Festus Morgan and Miss Waldren, 51; G. Fox Tiffany and Miss Compton 54; F. Johnston and Miss H. Patterson, 55; G. Hyde Clark and Mrs. Ryerson, 56; Mr. A. Coppell and Miss Bowers, 62; Stephen C. Clark and Miss Patterson, 63; W. Warren and Miss Alice Wardwell, 63. Those who failed to qualify were:

H. Boyer and Miss M. Compton, 63; Bard Johnson and Miss Kirkland 66; F. A. Clark and Miss Frances Gregory, 69; W. Johnson and Miss Davis, 71; W. P. Brown and Mrs. G. Hyde Clark, 75; Paul B. Cooke and Miss Starkweather, 77; W. Constable and Miss The following is the summary for the Cooperstown cup:

First Round-F. Johnston and Miss H. Patterson beat Mr. Warren and Miss A. Wardwell. by 2 up: G. F. Tiffany and Miss Compton beat W. Festus Morgan and Miss Waldren, by 4 up and 3 to play.

The special events on the M. G. A. links to-day, aside from the matches in the East Jersey and the North Jersey Shore Lengues, include the match between the Englewood and North Jersey Country Club at Paterson, and the visit of the Fairfield team to the Apawamis links, where there will also be a mixed foursome handicap. There will be a club handicap and women's putting match at Ardsley, and special handicars at Shinnecock Hills, Nassau, Seabright and Deal. Vardon and Alex Finlay will play an exhibition match at the Portland, Me., Golf Club.

Mortimer M. Singer of the Hollywood Golf Club, who was one of the amateurs to essay the task of opposing Vardon in a best ball match at Blue Mountain Lake, returned to town yesterday. Singer, with H. C. Villepigue and John M. Ward, played against Vardon on the first appearance of the famous pro in this country, at the Laurence Harbor Country Club. He says that Vardon is a third better now than he was at Laurence Harbor. In the match against himself and G. E. Armstrong, although against a head wind, Vardon made the 235-yard green on his tee shot each of the four times he played it. Also, as a proof of his accuracy on the long game, although the line of play is only about the urity yards wide. Vardon was only off the course twice in the thirty-six holes. Vardon plays an exhibition match against Alex Findlay of Boston to-day at Portland, Me. The nearby summer resorts are being billed as though a circus was coming to town and it is expected that there will be a great crowd on the links. On Aug. 27 and 28 Vardon will play at the Kebo Valley Country Club, and before returning to New York he will play a match or two in Canada.

MONTCLAIR, Aug. 10.—In the contest among the women for the Governor's cup upon the Montclair links yesterday afternoon Miss Coleman won with 121 net. Miss Pickman and Miss Cooper were tied for second place.

Newport, Aug. 10.—On the links of the Newport Golf Club to-day there was a women's tournament for a cup offered by Mrs. Hollis H. Hubnewell, Jr. It was a handloap and the cup we to go to the best net score. Owing to the departure of the New York Yacht Club there was a small entry list. The cup was won by error, however, she was disqual fled. Mr. Vanderbilt took the disqualification so good naturedly that many hope he will win to-morrow. If the Virginia had won she would have had two legs for the Lippitt cup. The Rainbow finished second and Mineola third, but the latter, allowing for the difference at the start, won the race. After passing the Vineyard Sound lightshipwhere the four boats were very close together the Yannkee, with a spinnaker, went to the Cutty hunk shore and by so doing lost considerably. The Virginia went on the south side and the Mineola and Rainbow in the middle of the Sound. The finish was very close and in the end the Mineola beat the Rainbow by 15 seconds. Mr. Vanderbilt was not the only one to make a mistake. The Wasp, Petrel, Latona and Ingomar were also disqualified for the same error. Hester led the Class I boats won, Sayonara, on account of the disqualification of the Wasp, was a winner. Shark won in Class K. Sistae lost her topmast just at the finishing line. In the schooners' classes the winners were Constellation, Corona, Quissetta and Wayward. The run from New London to Newport was a most unsatisfactory one. Out of thirty-three yachts that started only ten finished before the time limit expired. The Regatta Committee remained at the lightship until a late hour and took the times of the boats as they went over the line. This was done just to show the vach tsmen how they had sailed compared with other yachts. In the 70-foot class the Rainbow beat the Mineola, 49 minutes 28 seconds: Yankee, 1 hour 19 minutes 30 seconds, and Virginia, 1 hour 34 minutes 51 seconds. The Hester won in Class I sloops. The Wasp was the only boat to finish in time in class J. In Class K the Syce won. The Shark fluished at 8:22:00 and Altair at 8:35:33, both after the time limit. The Corona and Quissetta were the only ones to finish in time, and they won in their classes. The Quissetta also won the day's run for the Vice-Com modore's cup, which makes two runs to her credit and one for the Corona. The big Constellation did not finish until after 2 o'clock this at the gloomy outlook. For three days they had been fighting against fickle breezes and dead calms. The racing had been unsatisfactory even to the owners of the winning boats. Yachtsmen are all good sportsmen and unless they can win a cup fairly they consider the honer an empty one.

As the morning wore on, and there was still no sign of a breeze, Commodore Ledyard signalled for the yachtsmen to meet him in the clubhouse, in order to find out what their wishes were. There was quite a large gathering, and it was soon agreed that unless it breezed up within a reasonable time the run scheduled

This zerbyr was only the advance gurd of a good salling breeze, and the yachtsmen got up their mainsails, hove port on their anchor chains, and were ready to get out as soon as the signal should be given. "Get under way for Vinevard Haven, "spoken in three small code flars, fluttered from the halliards on the flarship Corona, and the sharp bark of a gun called attention to the welcome signal. Anchors were hoisted, libs broken out, and for over an about the all secretions and sizes sweeting by the grim walls of Fort Adams, and on just Caslle Point, out to the lightship.

A collision seemed inevitable unless the Constellation should give way. The mate on that boat was standing forward taking in the situation. Capt. Watson held on his course. The Hildegarde had no chance to get out of the way. If her helm was changed she would have run into the committee boat. When the two big schooners were barely six feet apart, the mate on the Constellation waved his hand to leeward. Capt. Watson put his helm but up and the Constellation paid off, giving the coveted position to the Hildegarde. That twessel was timed at 11:56:01 and the Constellation three seconds later. The Mineola drew clear of the Virginia and they reached toward the lightship in the order in which they went over the line. The Yankee rather improved her position in this reach and her time, taken as she passed the lightship, was 1:34:00. She had travelled seventeen miles in 1 hour and 29 minutes, remarkably fast work under the conditions. The Rainbow was timed at 1:35:45, the Mineola at 1:36:43, and Virginia at 1:37:05. On this reach the Yankee had beaten the Rainbow 41 seconds, the Mineola 2 minutes and 1 second and the Virginia 2 minutes and 21 seconds. The red clay cliffs of Gay Head shone brightly in the sun as the yachts went by. They had started sheets after passing the lightship and sent up balloon jib topsails. The schooners used their main topmast staysails also. After getting in under Cuttyhnuk some of the boats set spinnakers to starboard. The run to the finish was an exceedingly fast one, and the race was the best of the cruise. Summary follows:

letter from Paris written on July 28, states that a meeting was held on July 27 at the office of the A. A. U. for the purpose of organizing an international athletic association. Representatives from the different countries were present and the matter was fully discussed. Nothing definite was done beyond the selection of a name for the organization, which will be known as the Union Athletique Internationale. The aim of the association will be to have world's championship games every year in one of the different countries. The representatives practically agreed to return to their respective homes and work with their associations for the formation of this union. One of the objects of the union will be to have a uniform set of rules governing events so that all will know them in advance and not to have international competitions conducted under the rules of any one national organization.

Secretary sullivan is very much in favor of this move and writes that upon his arrival in this country he will bring the matter before the A. U. B. S. de Garmendia, Assistant Director of Sports at the Paris Exposition, who has worked with A. G. Spalding and Mr. Sullivan at the world's championships at Paris, is a resident of Paris and could very nicely represent the Amateur Athletic Union on the board during the formation of the Union on the board during the formation of the Union on the board international body are many, and the numerous little troubles that cropped up during the Exposition games would never have occurred if an international association had controlled the meeting. known as the Union Athletique Internationale.

merican Player in the Lead When a Thunderstorm Ends the Game.

Tennis Tournament at Longwood was brought to an abrupt end in the middle of the third match in singles this afternoon by a terrific thunderstorm. As H. Roper Barrett sails for England to-morrow and A. W. Gors and E. D. Black have promised to go to Southampton to play in the tournament in progress there it is now impossible to have the Whitman-Black match played or complete the Davis-Gore match. The elements interfered with a fine tennis match. Gore and Davis were Davis-Gore match. The elements interfered with a fine tennis match. Gore and Davis were both playing cleverly, and as the games played up to the time the rain began to descend had been very close, the contest promised to develop into a test of endurance and seculiness. The Whitman-Black match had not been started, but the two men were on the courts limbering up, and the spectators had begun to move over into seats commanding a better view when the storm broke.

The two matches interfered with were the final ones of the tournament. The Englishmen had many well wishers, for it is felt that if the visitors go home without taking a single one of the five it will rather discourage them from coming after the Davis trophy another year.

The Davis-Gore match was started shortly before 3 o'clock and sixteen games had to be played to decids the first set. Davis finally took a game on Gore's service and then followed it up with a victory from his own. Davis took nine of the games played and Gore seven. The second set was even closer than the first and when the rain bevan to fall the men were commencing the nineteenth game with Davis in the lead with ten games to his credit and Gore eight. The service of both men was an important factor in the match and, as usual, Davis showed the more skilful twists of the two, although he won but one more game when playing to his opponent than did Gore. The latter won twelve games out of the thirty-four in which he served. The American won five games off Gore's service and the latter took four on Davis. At times Davis out the ball so cleverly that Gore was unable to meet it for the return on account of the baffling way it broke on reaching the ground. In the seventeen times he served the American scored seven aces, while the Englishman only had two placed to his credit.

he served the American scored seven aces, while the Englishman only had two placed to his credit.

The piacing of the American was another important factor in giving him a victory in the first set and the lead in the second. Time and again he would drop the ball just over the net, so close that it was impossible for his opponent to get within reaching distance, although desperate efforts were made every time. On one occasion the ball was so delicately touched that it went over the net and to Gore's territory, but on the rebound came back under the net to Davis's side where, of course. Gore could not touch it. Many experts said that it was the first time they ever saw a play of the kind.

Gore tried a few lobs, but he soon gave un that style of play and went back to his hard ground drives, as the American smashed all the lobs out of his rival's reach. Gore also placed with considerable skill, but toward the end of the second set there were several that Davis seemed to make no effort to reach. Three times the Englishman placed line drives with such accuracy that they landed on the out ide line, near the further corner of the back court.

The twelfth game of the second set was a marvellous display of placing by both men, all the seven points being made on places. Five were executed by Davis. Gore went into the air in the sixteenth game of the second set, and made such poor returns that Davis won a love game on his opponent's four outs. Gore

The Veteran Defeats Stevens in Final Round -Allen and Clothier Win the Doubles.

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 10 .- The winners here to-day in the final matches in the Long Island lawn tennis championship tournament were: W. A. Larned, in the singles; John A. Allen and W. J. Clothier, the Yale-Pennsylvania team, in the doubles, and John A. Allen in the consolation singles. The Larned-Stevens match and the doubles were fought out point by point and the individual work of the contestants was so good that the spectators were kept busy sending forth rippling rounds of applause. The good that the spectators were kept busy sending forth rippling rounds of applause. The veteran Larned defeated the Hoboken Cricket Club expert, Richard Stevens, with comparative ease. Larned created something of a sensation by outplaying his opponent at his own game at the base line. Contrary to his usual custom, Larned kept at the back of his court and went seldem to the net. His strokes were accurate, and he hit the ball harder than Stevens on his long deep drives, which he sent very low over the net. Stevens found great difficulty in passing Larned, and as this is the method on which he relies to score the point he was unable to repeat the victory of yesterday. Only in the third set was Stevens able to theck the progress of his of ponent. By sending high lobs that landed near Larned's base line Stevens forced his antagonist to make slow returns. These he sent cutting down the side lines and tallied points until the score stood at 4-2. Then Larned rallied and pulled out the seventh game and continued his winning streak until the match was won.

The Hardp brothers, the Pacific Coast champions, lost their match to Allen and Clothier, the Yale-Pennsylvania combination, because of poor team work. The game put up by the winners of this context was aggressive and speedy. Both men proved fast at the net, and in the rallies they used good judgment in making their cross court smashes and also in placing. Allen was accurate to a nicety, and in the third and fourth sets, when the Hardys took the lead, he mace a plucky uphill fight until the danger point was passed. Clothier also distinguished himself and though he is young and as yet lacks the stradiness of a player of wide experience, he plays a lightning game at the net. His stroke is true and he hits the ball with great force. His smashing and "killis" were the features of the game. The tournament will be brought to an end to-morrow with the English-hack court expert, will meet Richard Stevens, the American matches. A. W. Gore, the British back court expert, will mee

How the Missourt Supreme Court Views Baseball.

The difference between baseball and such sports as horse-racing and cock-fighting has recently been pointed out by the Missouri Supreme Court in an opinion declaring Sunday baseball in that State proper and legal. "Baseball," the Judge said, "does not belone to the same class, kind, species or genus as horse-racing, cock-fighting or card-playing. It is a game of chance only to the same extent that chance or luck may enter into anything man may do, but when chance or luck is man may do, but when chance or luck is pitted against skill and science it is as fair an illustration of what will result as any test that could be applied.

"Until the lawmakers expressly provide for such sweeping changes in the lives and customs and habits of our people, it is not proper for the courts by construction to impair their natural rights to enjoy sports or amusements that are neither immoral nor hurful to body or soul. We, therefore, conclude that there is no law in this State which prevents playing a game of baseball on Sun'tay, and therefore the defendant tone Joe Neet) is imprisoned for the doing of an act which is not unlawful, and therefore the imprisonment is unlawful."
